Kyleigh Lydon is a 6 year old little girl who was diagnosed with Galactosemia as an infant.

Galactosemia is too much galactose in the blood. This accumulation of galactose is poison to the body and causes serious complications such as; Liver Failure, Kidney Failure, and Brain Damage.

There is currently no cure or treatment for Galactosemia.

Because this disease is so rare, there is minimal funding for research. A Halloween Gala Fundraiser is being held on Friday, October 28, 2011 to help Kyleigh's family support current research in order to give their daughter and other children treatment options and hope.

Kyleigh's parents, Kristine and Sean, sister Samantha, and brother Sean, greatly appreciate everyone's support.
